HYLA is a 5-day long social justice themed day camp where middle school, high school, and college freshman youth have an opportunity to develop leadership skills and the confidence to create social change, encourage civic responsibility, and become part of a global youth movement.

- An unforgettable experience of interactive fun oriented learning
- Youth leadership skill building workshops in an intense, but exciting, five-day summer camp
- Presentations from local non-profits
- Leadership and action planning from Free The Children and Me To We facilitators
- An opportunity for youth to share goals, strengthen leadership skills, and make life-long friends
